DAYS OF CHRISTMAS CONTENT, DONE.

A Christmas countdown of posts for your clinic. One a day, ten minutes each, and every one of them ends on a question people want to answer.

START HERE.

This is a Christmas countdown of posts for your clinic, one a day, and each one takes about ten minutes. I made it for clinic owners who are brilliant in the treatment room and would rather do anything than stare at a blank caption box.

HOW TO USE IT

1. Find today's day and read the hook. That is your first line, so keep it exactly as it is.
2. Add one real detail from your clinic. A client moment, a room, a product, a story. Anything true.
3. Finish with the question on the page. Comments are what the algorithm loves, so this bit matters.
4. Add five hashtags for your area, post it, then tick it off on the sheet at the back.

On carousel days, make your last slide say: Tag a friend who will get it.

A QUICK WORD ON STAYING SAFE

Say what a treatment is and how it feels, and leave results promises out. Keep prescription medicines out of your captions altogether. If you are ever unsure, check it against your own compliance rules before you post.

Anything in [square brackets] is a gap for you to fill with your own detail. Start on 25 November and day 30 lands on Christmas Eve.

WEEK 1 · DAYS 1 TO 4

Deck the halls.

Week 1 gets the clinic into the festive spirit and lets people see the real you behind the sparkle. Keep it cosy, keep it honest.

DAY 01

SELFIE PHOTO

The clinic Christmas tree is up and it has opinions.

I put it up myself, it leans slightly to the left, and I have decided that is its personality.

CLOSING LINE Real tree, fake tree or no tree at all?

DAY 02

REEL

Putting up the clinic decorations in real time.

Fairy lights, a tangle I will not be discussing, and one bauble already lost to the floor.

CLOSING LINE What is the first decoration you put up?

DAY 03

CAROUSEL

Festive things I hear in the treatment room every December.

“I have a party on Saturday and nothing to wear.” “My mother in law arrives on Friday.” I could write a book.

CLOSING LINE Which one is your December line?

DAY 04

PHOTO

My clinic at 8am with the lights twinkling.

This is the quiet bit I love. Lights low, [one festive detail of your room], and everything reset for the next lovely face.

CLOSING LINE Do you decorate early or leave it until the last minute?

WEEK 1 · DAYS 5 TO 7

Deck the halls.

DAY 05

TEXT POST

Christmas stress is real and you are allowed to feel it.

The lists, the presents, the diary with no gaps. I see you, and I am juggling it too.

CLOSING LINE What is stressing you out most this December?

DAY 06

REEL

Wrap with me: gifts for the lovely ladies in my life.

[Three gifts you are wrapping], a roll of sticky tape that has vanished twice, and a wrapping standard I would call enthusiastic.

CLOSING LINE How good is your wrapping, honestly?

DAY 07

TEXT POST

Sunday in December: what I am saying no to this year.

I am saying no to [one thing you will drop]. The people who love me will survive, and so will I.

CLOSING LINE What are you saying no to this year?

TIP FOR THE WEEK

Use your own face and your own words. People follow people, and your clients are looking for you.

WEEK 2 · DAYS 8 TO 11

Party season.

Week 2 is party season. Day 9 is your first treatment spotlight, and treatment days finish by inviting people to comment for more info.

DAY 08

CAROUSEL

Skin habits worth keeping through party season.

Lots of water, a proper cleanse before bed and a little patience with yourself. It all adds up by New Year.

CLOSING LINE What is your one skin habit you never skip?

DAY 09

TREATMENT PHOTO OR REEL

The treatment my clients book before a party.

It's [your party season treatment]. It takes about [time], it feels like [honest description], and clients tell me they enjoy the day out of the house.

FINISH WITH Comment [TREATMENT NAME] for more info

DAY 10

REEL

Get ready with me for the clinic Christmas party.

Sparkly top, bold lip and a sensible pair of shoes I will be carrying home by 10pm.

CLOSING LINE What is your party outfit rule?

DAY 11

CAROUSEL

My party make up survival kit.

[Three things you always carry], a spare pair of tights and a lipstick that does not budge.

CLOSING LINE What is in your party bag?

WEEK 2 · DAYS 12 TO 14

Party season.

DAY 12

PHOTO

The Christmas jumper I will be wearing in clinic.

It lights up. It plays a tune. My clients have been warned and I am rather proud.

CLOSING LINE Christmas jumper, yes or no?

DAY 13

STORY POLL

Settle this for me.

Would you rather have a quiet night in with a film, or a night out with a bit of glitter? Vote in the poll.

CLOSING LINE Which one did you pick, and why?

DAY 14

TEXT POST

You do not have to go to everything.

Staying in with your slippers on is a perfectly good Saturday night, even in December.

CLOSING LINE What is your favourite thing to say no to?

TIP FOR THE WEEK

Treatment posts work best with a real photo of your room, your hands or your products. Show what is true.

WEEK 3 · DAYS 15 TO 18

Gift guide.

Week 3 is all about gifting. Gift vouchers are the star on days 16 and 19, and day 18 is your second treatment spotlight.

DAY 15

REEL

Gifts for her from my clinic shelf.

[Three products or gifts you love] and one that I always end up buying for myself as well.

CLOSING LINE Who is the hardest person to buy for in your family?

DAY 16

CAROUSEL

Why a gift voucher is the gift she will actually use.

No wrong size, no wrong colour, no returns queue. Just a lovely appointment and a moment for herself.

CLOSING LINE Comment VOUCHER for more info

DAY 17

This message made my week.

[Paste a kind message, with the client's permission.] I read it twice and then showed the whole team.

CLOSING LINE Who made your week better recently?

DAY 18

Treatment spotlight: [name of treatment].

Best for [concern], takes about [time], feels like [honest description]. Clients often book it ahead of [a party or the new year].

FINISH WITH Comment [TREATMENT NAME] for more info

WEEK 3 · DAYS 19 TO 21

Gift guide.

DAY 19

REEL

Wrapping gift vouchers, a masterclass in bad wrapping.

Lovely card, lovely ribbon, and a pen that stopped working halfway through the message.

CLOSING LINE Comment VOUCHER for more info

DAY 20

CAROUSEL

Christmas traditions in my house that are slightly unhinged.

[Three funny things your family does every year]. I will not be taking questions.

CLOSING LINE Tag a friend who will get it

PHOTO

Sunday check in.

How are you really doing this week? I ask my clients all the time, so today I am asking you.

CLOSING LINE How are you, honestly?

TIP FOR THE WEEK

Reply to every comment within the hour if you can. That is where the friendships, and the bookings, begin.

WEEK 4 · DAYS 22 TO 25

The countdown.

Week 4 is the cosy countdown. Day 22 fills your last diary slots and day 25 is your third treatment spotlight, aimed at New Year.

REEL

The last appointment slots before Christmas.

I have a few gaps left in my diary and they will not last. Come and have your moment before the madness.

CLOSING LINE Comment SLOT for more info

DAY 23

CAROUSEL

How I survive hosting Christmas.

Make lists, ask for help and lower your standards on the sprouts. Nobody at the table will remember them.

CLOSING LINE What is your best hosting rule?

PHOTO

Small business owner confession.

I [a relatable admin struggle this December]. I am learning to ask for help and I am better for it.

CLOSING LINE What are you finally learning to hand over?

A little fresh start for your skin before New Year.

If your face needs a refresh before [New Year or an event], here is what I would suggest: [your treatment].

FINISH WITH Comment [TREATMENT NAME] for more info

WEEK 4 · DAYS 26 TO 28

The countdown.

DAY 26

REEL

A day in clinic in the last week before Christmas.

Back to back lovely faces, a table full of chocolates and a diary that looks like a game of Tetris.

CLOSING LINE What does your last working day before Christmas look like?

DAY 27

CAROUSEL

Things I am grateful for this year.

[Three honest things from your year], one per slide. Number one is always the clients who trust me.

CLOSING LINE Tag a friend who will get it

DAY 28

STORY Q&A

Ask me anything, Christmas edition.

I am answering questions about [skin, treatments and clinic life] all day. Pop yours in the question box.

CLOSING LINE What is the question you are dying to ask me?

TIP FOR THE WEEK

Save the questions you get on day 28. They are your next month of content, written for you.

DAYS 29 AND 30

Thank you.

The last two days say thank you and look back, which makes people feel part of your Christmas.

DAY 29

PHOTO OR REEL

A thank you from the whole clinic.

This year we [one thing you did], and it is all down to the lovely people who follow along. Thank you.

CLOSING LINE What are you proud of this year?

DAY 30

CAROUSEL

What I hope you get for Christmas.

[Three kind wishes, one per slide.] A long lie in, a warm room and someone else doing the washing up.

CLOSING LINE Tag a friend who will get it

AND THEN

Start on 25 November and day 30 lands on Christmas Eve. Starting later? Skip the days that no longer fit and keep the ones you love.

Your tick sheet.

Print this page and tick each day off as you post. Watching the countdown fill up is oddly satisfying.

WHAT NEXT?

If you posted even half of these, you have already beaten most clinics. I mean that kindly, because I have seen a lot of them.

Some clinic owners love doing this themselves. Others would rather have a whole month written in their own voice, with their photos and their name on it, and get their evenings back. I do that too, and I would love to hear which camp you are in.

Send me a message on Instagram at @social_media_sister

and tell me which day of the 30 was your favourite to post. I read every single one.
